Dear Graduate,

Today, we celebrate you! We celebrate your accomplishments, your perseverance and your determination and persistence to complete your degree. Congratulations!

I am thrilled to be sharing this significant occasion with you. You worked tirelessly to balance your commitment to work, friends and family with your studies, and overcome challenges while reaching your goals.

This is how you RISE!

I have the greatest admiration for you. And I applaud the members of the UW-Green Bay faculty and staff who supported you to this end. Your determined efforts have prepared you to be a leader in your respective fields and the experience of working with others toward a common goal puts you in a position to make positive change in your community.

You are our problem-solvers, our innovators, our culture of creative thinkers, poised to solve the problems of our future.

My greatest hope is that you leave not only with a degree, but an understanding of the obligation that comes with it... to value those around you, to see the world through many lenses, and to lead for the greater good, in whatever path you choose. While this degree marks a significant milestone in your education, I urge you to continue learning your entire life.

Remember, there is tremendous responsibility that comes with your degree and great potential to make a difference. I hope you will realize that full potential and join the 50,000-plus Phoenix alumni who are making a positive impact in their communities.

It is an honor for me to serve this great University and to be with you to celebrate this important milestone in your life!

ACADEMIC RITUAL AND ATTIRE

The procedure followed for awarding of degrees at most American universities is based on a practice developed at the University of Paris almost 800 years ago. In those days, the Bishop of Paris, like every other bishop, was responsible for educational matters. As the new university developed, he naturally claimed authority over curriculum and degree granting. His authority however was disputed by teachers who asserted only they could judge students' qualifications.

A threatened impasse was resolved by a compromise under which the teachers judged the merits of the students and then recommended them to the bishop for their degrees. You see a secularized version with the Vice Chancellor, as representative of the faculty, certifying the students as qualified. The Chancellor, as representative of the Regents, who have replaced the bishop as the governing authority, then authorizes the awarding of degrees.

The caps and gowns worn by graduates and faculty are based on costumes used in universities of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, particularly at Oxford and Cambridge in England. The academic dress has been used in the United States from colonial times and was standardized by Intercollegiate Code in 1895. The black gowns worn by the associate, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree holders differ in design and ornamentation, particularly in the sleeves. The cap is black mortarboard with the tassel worn over the left front quadrant. Undergraduate candidates shift their tassel from right to left at the time their degrees are conferred.

Hoods symbolize the master's and doctoral degrees, with the colors representing the field of study and the awarding institution. Graduates may wear regalia in recognition of academic status and honor society memberships.

THE MEANING OF HONORS

The use of Latin terms reflects the medieval origins of academic ceremony: cum laude indicates distinction; magna cum laude, great distinction; summa cum laude, highest distinction.

At UW-Green Bay, students achieve a 3.5 to 3.749 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) to graduate cum laude. Magna cum laude honors are awarded to students who achieve a cumulative average of 3.75 to 3.849. For highest honors — summa cum laude — students must average 3.85 or higher; or a 3.75 to 3.849 plus eligibility for and successful completion of an honors-in-the-major project. To qualify for honors, students must complete 48 credits in residence.

Some majors offer special distinction honors in the major. For this distinction, students must achieve a 3.5 or higher grade point average on all courses required for their major, and a 3.75 grade point in all junior-senior level major courses required, and complete an honors-in-the-major project.

Students graduating with honors will be recognized as such with the following after their name:

- * Cum laude
-  Magna cum laude
-  Summa cum laude
- † Honors in the major
- + With Honors

BLAI YANG

Amplifying Her Voice to Help Others Rise

Embarking on a college journey entails not just a first step but often includes a cascade of mixed emotions. For Blai Yang, a former Rising Phoenix whose voice is now used to support others and to give back, her initial steps on the campus of the University of Wisconsin – Green Bay began with empathy and quiet courage. “I was super shy and scared of being judged,” she remembers. But beneath the surface of her reserved demeanor was a determination - a voice - ready to grow and flourish, amplifying her personal potential and inspiring and uplifting others. Her choice to major in Democracy and Justice Studies was more than an academic decision—it was a challenge to express herself.

From the beginning, her academic voice has been loud and clear, evident through the high honors she achieved. But those achievements grow even more impressive considering the financial challenges she and her family faced. Yet, throughout her college years, Yang’s commitment to her education remained unshaken. Her resilience and potential were quickly recognized by mentors like Professor Katia Levintova, who remarked, “Blai grew so much through the opportunities UW-Green Bay provided for Democracy & Justice Studies students. Rarely do I see a student who absorbs every piece of advice and suggestion we give and follows up on every opportunity presented to them.”

Yang’s narrative at UW-Green Bay, as a proud Hmong American and a trailblazer within her family as the first to attend college, was punctuated by a poverty simulation for the Student Engagement Center training that deeply resonated with her own life. “I felt connected to the engagement process because my mom was the breadwinner, taking care of everyone,” Yang shared. This moment of reflection and empathy was a turning point, illustrating her ability to draw strength from her rich cultural heritage and her firsthand understanding of the value of education, to fuel her academic and extracurricular endeavors.

Through her journey in the Rising Phoenix Program and the numerous opportunities that UW-Green Bay provided her on campus, Yang’s once-soft voice grew into a keynote for her peers. As a Civic Scholar, she delved into the needs of her community, and as an Emerging Leadership Experience mentor, she guided the future leaders of the 2024 cohort. Her work as a Student Ambassador and with New Scholars Rising (formerly BIPOC RISE) bridged her own personal growth with her role in fostering an inclusive university experience for others. “I gained a sense of community here at UWGB and also a sense of belonging,” she reflects, acknowledging the transformative impact of these experiences on her life. “All of these involvements, as well as faculty and my friends, have played such a vital role in who I am today. I simply could not have grown as much as I did without them.”

As she prepares to take her next steps, Yang is ready to apply the confidence she’s garnered at UW-Green Bay to a consequential role with AmeriCorps VISTA, where she aims to tackle issues of poverty in the local community. Her campus involvement continues to energize her aspirations to lead. “I want to be sure each voice is heard and included,” says Yang. “Leading my own program would be fulfilling, and to see others gain similar experiences and encourage them to rise to their fullest potential would be so rewarding!” And that leadership does not demand volume, but conviction: “I’ve learned it’s not just the loudest or the most extroverted who can lead.”

PHOENIX FIGHT SONG

Hail! To the Fighting Phoenix
Rise up and light the flame!
Green Bay is the home of Champions
We're gonna' win this game!
Hail! To the Fighting Phoenix
We're rising up to say
Fight! Fight! Fight! For a win tonight
The Champions from old Green Bay!

ALMA MATER

Let us rise above these waters,
Men and women of Green Bay.
Rise in knowledge,
Rise in wisdom,
Rise in friendship sealed today.
As the Phoenix rose from flame,
Let us rise and still proclaim,
That we pledge our Alma Mater,
And the memories of her name.

"Alma Mater" composed by Prof. Emeritus Lovell Ives with lyrics by former Prof. Peter Stambler
